Camp Bartlett at Westfield, Mass., is now but a deserted village. There is no need to say more.

The Vermont State Medical society, which comes to Barre this week for its annual convention, will have the opportunity of inspecting one of the most modern hospitals in northern New England.

It may be taken as a fairly good sign of American solidarity when William Howard Taft and William Jennings Bryan go out on the stump for the same issue, namely, the Liberty loan bond sale. The two distinguished Americans have been enlisted in the cause and are even now on the road, although traveling in different directions.

A FALSE REPORT NAILED.

A report which has had a tendency to slow up the Red Cross campaign of knitting for the soldiers is the story that soldiers were compelled to pay for the articles. We have in mind one story, to the effect that a soldier replied to a note pinned to a sweater by the maker of the article by saying that the sweater was all right but he objected to being compelled to pay nine dollars for it. There have been other stories of similar import, all of which have had a tendency to discourage many well-meaning women who did not care to have their volunteer services commercialized. Most of the stories have been of doubtful origin and of very uncertain reliability, but they have had a bad general effect on the public. We are glad, therefore, that the New England division of the Red Cross, taking cognizance of the stories, has issued an emphatic denial of any participation in such transactions. Headquarters of the division says "If these rumors come to your attention I wish you would emphatically deny them, as the American Red Cross has not sold any of its finished Red Cross articles to any individual soldier or department store in this or any other city." Full reliance can be placed on that statement, and persons disposed to help in the good cause need not have fear that their labor will be turned into profit by the organization for which they are working. There is a possibility, of course, that some soldiers to whom the sweaters and other articles are assigned might sell the articles, expecting that there would be another assignment later, and in such a manner the story might be started that the articles were being trafficked in; but we are confident that such instances are rare and we are more confident that the American Red Cross does not exact money from soldiers in return for articles knitted by the women of America.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Rev. John Irons Surprised His Congregation By Resigning.

Rev. John Irons, pastor of the Congregational church, gave his congregation a surprise by reading his resignation at the morning service last Sunday. Mr. Irons will round out his sixth year as pastor of this church about the middle of November, and his resignation is to take effect at that time if it is accepted by the church. During this period he has made many friends, both in his own circle and among other churches and townpeople, having been found on the side of any movement for the good of the town and community. There are many who will be reluctant to have him go and who will feel that his removal will be a decided loss to the community.

Miss Lucy Abbott, who has been in town for the greater part of the past summer as the guest of Mrs. Laura D. Walker, has gone to South Royalton for a visit to relatives, after which she will go to Washington, D. C., the home of her brother, James Abbott.

All the catalogues in the world have never improved a suit of clothes.

A fine catalogue does not necessarily mean a fine suit.

In some nationally advertised clothing the nouveau art booklets and the full pages in the Satevepost are the best part of the proposition.

Many of the really best suits are made by moderately small manufacturers in New York, where the designs and workmanship are actually watched from stitch to stitch by the proprietor of the business.

To-day we invite you to a showing of suits made under these favorable conditions.

CONSTIPATION IS A PENALTY OF AGE

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as freedom and normal activity of the bowels. It makes one feel younger and fresher, and forestalls colds, piles, fevers, and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is far preferable. This is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It costs only fifty cents a bottle; a trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

WELLS RIVER

Exciting Pursuit of Burglars Who Robbed East Ryegate Store.

Burglars broke into the store of George Wallace at East Ryegate on Monday night, but the amount of stolen goods was small. The muffled explosion as they blew the safe attracted the attention of passersby who, on attempting to enter the store, scared the burglars, they escaping on a freight train south.

Word was immediately telephoned Sheriff Finch at Melndoes, who immediately came to Wells River, where the men had been located in the freight yard. Several shots had been fired by them at the night baggage master, and they then escaped south on foot.

Sheriff Finch borrowed two rifles from the hardware store here and immediately set out in pursuit, but up to the present time no results are manifest.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

Look Young! Common Garden Sage and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When ever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
